One report which we published the other day said it was that it may be so that it may be so that it was obtained surreptitiously and copied without the knowledge of the counsel for the but not five minutes after might have been without the knowledge of the counsel for the defense. The telegraphic reporter at: Washington gives his version of the matter thus: "It is true that Mr. Sickles would have preferred not to have his wife's confession published. It is not true, however, that the paper was obtained surreptitiously, and copied without the knowledge of the counsel for defense, as has been assorted in the communications to some of the New York papera. Neither is it true that it was first publiabed in a Washington journal, and then sent to the Associated Press. It was tele-graphed to New York before any second copy was made.

ON our fruit Catalogues we have recom-ON our fruit Catalogues we have recommendations which we find are used by other parties in the fruit tree business. We have, by hard labor, and with much exertion, secured a reputation for our Fruit Trees. Al. Catalogues without the name of "Jacob Hikes & Son!" upon them, with the recommendations of Job. Haines. If. Smoderd, Babbitt and Herman, Chas. G. Swain and Wu. J.
McKinney attached, are spurious.
We forwarn all persons from buying Fruit Trees from sellers having such catalogues, representing the trees to be from our nursery, as they are infringting on our reputation, and saling our mannes, as well as others, without our knowledge or consent.
